

The cost of having a baby can be expensive. Your health insurance doesn't have to be.

Medicaid is helping pregnant women have healthier babies in two special ways:

No-Cost Health Insurance for Pregnant Women

- Covers pregnancy-related services including doctor, hospital, delivery, lab-work, prescriptions and dental.
- Covers you for 60 days after delivery, regardless of income or household changes.
- Your newborn will automatically receive Medicaid coverage until the first birthday.
- No enrollment fees, no premiums, no co-pays and no deductibles.
- Allows you to keep your health insurance and still have Medicaid.

The Louisiana Health Insurance
Premium Payment Program

- Covers the cost of your health insurance premiums.
- More doctors, specialists and hospitals to choose from.
- No added out-of-pocket costs when Medicaid pays what your health insurance doesn't cover.
- Can provide coverage for your entire family—even those not eligible for Medicaid.
- Allows you to keep your health insurance and still have Medicaid.
